- For items classified as assets: the buying exchange rate is applied;
- For foreign currency deposits: the buying exchange rate of the bank where the Company opens its foreign currency account is applied;
- For items classified as liabilities: the selling exchange rate of the commercial bank where the Company regularly conducts transactions is applied.

All actual foreign exchange differences arising during the period and differences resulting from revaluation of balances of monetary items denominated in foreign currencies at period-end are recognized in the profit or loss of the accounting period.

2.5. Cash and cash equivalents

Cash includes cash on hand and demand deposits at banks.

Cash equivalents are short-term investments with a maturity of no more than 03 months from the date of acquisition, which are highly liquid, readily convertible to known amounts of cash, and subject to an insignificant risk of changes in value.

2.6. Financial Investments

Trading securities are recorded in the accounting books at cost, which includes: the purchase price plus purchasing costs (if any) such as brokerage fees, transaction fees, information provision fees, taxes, charges, and bank fees. The cost of trading securities is determined based on the fair value of the payments made at the time the transaction occurs.

Held-to-maturity investments include: fixed-term bank deposits (including certificates of deposit and promissory notes), bonds, preferred shares that the issuer is obligated to repurchase at a specific future date, and loans held to maturity with the objective of earning periodic interest, as well as other held-to-maturity investments.

The carrying value of investments in subsidiaries and joint ventures/associates is determined at cost.

The carrying value of investments in equity instruments of other entities where the Group does not have control, joint control, or significant influence is determined at cost if the investment was made in cash, or at revalued amounts if the investment was made in non-monetary assets.

Provision for impairment of investments is made at the end of the reporting period as follows:

For trading securities: the provision is based on the difference between the carrying cost of the investments recorded in the accounting books and their market value at the time the provision is recognized, if the carrying cost is higher.

For investments in subsidiaries and capital contributions to other entities: the provision is based on the separate financial statements of the subsidiaries and other investees at the time of provision recognition.

For long-term investments (not classified as trading securities) and no significant influence over the investee: if the investment is in listed shares or the fair value of the investment can be reliably determined, the provision is based on the market value of the shares; if the fair value cannot be reliably determined at the reporting date, the provision is based on the financial statements of the investee at the time of provision recognition.

For held-to-maturity investments: the provision is based on the recoverability assessment in accordance with prevailing legal regulations on doubtful debts.

2.7. Receivables

Receivables are monitored in detail by due date, debtor, currency type, and other factors according to the management requirements of HAPACO Group.

Provision for doubtful debts is made for receivables that are overdue based on economic contracts, loan agreements, debt commitments, or receivables not yet due but with low recoverability prospects. The provision for doubtful debts is determined for each doubtful receivable based on the estimated potential loss.

2.8. Fixed Assets, Finance Leased Fixed Assets, and Investment Properties

Tangible fixed assets are recognized at historical cost. During use, tangible fixed assets are recorded at historical cost, accumulated depreciation, and carrying value.

Depreciation is calculated using the straight-line method. Estimated useful lives for depreciation purposes are as follows:

- Buildings and structures	05 - 25 years
- Transportation vehicles	06 - 10 years
- Office equipment	03 - 05 years

2.9. Prepaid Expenses

Expenses incurred that relate to the business results of multiple accounting periods are recorded as prepaid expenses and allocated gradually to business results over the accounting periods.

The calculation and allocation of long-term prepaid expenses into production and business expenses of each accounting period are based on the nature and magnitude of each type of expense, selecting an appropriate method and allocation basis. Prepaid expenses are allocated gradually into production and business expenses using the straight-line method.

2.10. Payables

Payables are monitored in detail by due date, creditor, currency type, and other factors as required by the Company's management.

2.11. Borrowings and Finance Lease Liabilities

Borrowings and finance lease liabilities are monitored by each lender, each loan agreement, and the due date of each borrowing and finance lease liability. In the case of borrowings and liabilities denominated in foreign currencies, they are monitored separately in original currencies.

2.12. Borrowing Costs

Borrowing costs are recognized as production and business expenses in the period when incurred, except for borrowing costs directly related to the investment in construction or production of unfinished assets, which are included in the value of that asset (capitalized) when meeting all the conditions specified in Vietnamese Accounting Standard No. 16 "Borrowing costs". In addition, for separate loans for the construction of fixed assets, investment real estate, interest is capitalized even when the construction period is less than 12 months.

2.13. Accrued Expenses

Accrued expenses for goods and services received from sellers or provided to buyers during the reporting period but not actually paid and other payables such as interest expenses payable are recorded in the production and business expenses of the reporting period.

The recognition of accrued expenses into production and business expenses during the period is carried out in accordance with the matching principle between revenue and related expenses incurred within the same period. Accrued expenses are settled against actual expenses incurred. Any difference between the accrued amount and actual expenses is reversed accordingly.

2.14. Owner's Equity

Owner's contributed capital is recognized based on the actual amount contributed by the owners.

Share premium reflects the difference between the par value, direct costs associated with the issuance of shares and the issue price of shares (including cases of re-issuance of treasury shares) and can be a positive surplus (if the issue price is higher than the par value and direct costs associated with the issuance of shares) or a negative surplus (if the issue price is lower than the par value and direct costs associated with the issuance of shares).

Treasury shares are shares issued by the Company and repurchased by the Company. Such shares are not cancelled and are subject to re-issuance within the period prescribed by the securities laws. Treasury shares are recorded at the actual repurchase value and presented on the Balance Sheet as a deduction from Owner's contributed capital. The cost of treasury shares upon re-issuance or use for dividend payment, bonus, etc., is determined based on the weighted average method.

Undistributed post-tax profits reflect the Company's business results (profit or loss) after corporate income tax and the status of profit distribution or loss handling. Profit distribution is carried out when the Company's undistributed post-tax profits do not exceed the undistributed post-tax profits presented in the consolidated financial statements after excluding the impact of gains recognized from bargain purchase transactions. In cases where dividends or profits distributed to owners exceed the amount of undistributed post-tax profits, it is recorded as a reduction of contributed capital. Undistributed post-tax profits may be distributed to investors based on their capital contribution ratio after being approved by the General Meeting of Shareholders/the Board of Directors, and after appropriations to statutory reserves and other funds in accordance with the Company's Charter and applicable laws of Vietnam.

Dividends payable to shareholders are recognized as liabilities in the Company's Balance Sheet after the dividend distribution is approved by the Company's Board of Directors and after the record date for dividend entitlement is announced by the Vietnam Securities Depository.

2.15. Revenue recognition

Revenue from sale of goods

Revenue from the sale of goods is recognized when all the following conditions are satisfied:

- The significant risks and rewards of ownership of the goods have been transferred to the buyer;
- HAPACO Group no longer holds the right to manage the goods as the owner of the goods or the right to control the goods.
